UNITED MINE WORKERS MEET

Carriage Workers Present Claim For Aid.

Delegates Will Present Matter to Locals for Their Approval or Rejection.

Owensboro, Kentucky, March 13.—The opening day of the convention of the Miners' union of district 23, Southwestern Kentucky, which took place yesterday, was fraught with much interest to the general public as a most important step was taken. After addresses by members of the local carriage and wood workers' union, telling of the shut-out from work and the contracts they will be forced to sign in case they return to the factories, a resolution was offered by them for passage by the convention endorsing their moves and offering them aid.

Reports of President Barnaby and Secretary Smith were heard and approved by the meeting. The noon adjournment was then taken.

It was in the afternoon that the most important portion of the day's work was transacted for on returning to the hall, the delegates found that the meeting was attended by a delegation representing the local unions of the carriage and woodworkers, who had come to present their case and ask for aid, both material and sympathetic.

William Wood made the first speech of the afternoon after the delegation had been recognized by the convention.

B. F. Herron then made a speech which was greeted by long applause. "We are suffering under a lock-out at present, which I declare is without either right or justice on the part of the employers."

We are forced to ask the aid of the miners' unions, and I wish you gentlemen to present our case fully to your locals when you return home and ask their aid in every way, both by giving us sympathy and in a more substantial form of money donations. "Lastly, I ask you, gentlemen, on your return home to present to your locals these agreements which such of the men as were allowed to return to work were forced to sign. They not alone force us to give away our rights as citizens of the country, but as men as well."

A response to these talks was made by W. J. Campbell, of Drakesboro, a negro delegate, who assured the carriage workers of the sympathy felt for them and promised future support.

President Barnaby, in a short talk, assured the men that they had the sympathy and would have the substantial support of the miners' union.

C. W. Wells, a member of the national board, made a short talk, filled with assurances of aid. He pointed out that the farmers had requested that unless a man carried a union card no trading should be done with him and they in return will begin to look for the union stamps on every article purchased. In this way the factories will soon be brought to see, he thought, that it will be to their material advantage to recognize the unions and employ union labor. "I own a buggy from an Owensboro factory, gentlemen, said he, and I am sorry of it. I will say this, that in case I return home and find that someone has taken off the wheels and broken up the body, I will not be sorry."

After presenting the resolution they wished adopted by the convention the local unionists withdrew. The meeting was adjourned immediately afterward, President Barnaby representing that none of the committees was ready to report.

The Meeting.

The revival meeting at the Baptist church here, conducted by the pastor, assisted by Eld. O. M. Shultz, still continues with increasing interest. Two have professed faith in Christ their personal Saviour and others have expressed interest. All things considered, the attendance has been good. The meeting will continue all this week. All are invited to help in the great work of saving souls from eternal death.

The deceased, who was the sister of Fount and Harry Stum, was 37 years old and a most estimable lady. An only daughter and husband have the profoundest sympathy of their numerous friends in their sad bereavement.

Suit for $100,000 Damages Filed by Dr. Cox's Children.

Lexington, Ky., March 13.—Suit to recover $100,000 damages was filed last night in Fayette Circuit Court against James Hargis, Edward Callahan and Elbert Hargis by T. P. Cardwell, Sr., guardian for Edward Cox, Lucie Cox and Brackie D. Cox, children of Dr. E. D. Cox, and infants under fourteen years of age. In the petition it is alleged that the defendants, James Hargis, Edward Callahan and Elbert Hargis, conspired together with each other, and with John Smith, John Abner and Asbury Spicer and others, whose names are not known, to murder D. B. Cox.

It is further alleged that the Hargises and Callahan and their associates did, on April 13, 1902, murder Cox.

FOUND NEAR RAILROAD TRACK.

Man From Oklahoma Picked up Unconscious Near Cloverport Monday Morning.

A party of fishermen Monday morning about nine o'clock discovered a man lying unconscious near the railroad track in the vicinity of Little Tar Springs. A severe gash was cut on the right side of the face and his head and body were otherwise badly bruised.

He was brought to Cloverport in a skiff and a physician summoned. Consciousness was partially restored but throughout the day he remained semiconscious, and it was difficult to learn any facts of the case.

The man gave his name as N. G. Baily and his home as Thomas Oil Fields, Okla. He stated that he was on his way to Carrollton, Ky., to visit his daughter, Mrs. Catherine Swango. Further than that he was in St. Louis Sunday he does not remember, and is not able to tell how he was injured. In his hat was a punched ticket.

His pockets contained $18 in money, an accident policy, three duplicates of deposit and one certificate of deposit in the Bank of Commerce, Tulsa, Okla. The injured man appears to be about seventy years of age. Yesterday he was considerably improved.

Relatives were communicated with and a son living in Louisville arrived here yesterday for his father.—Breckinridge News.

DEMOCRAT CANDIDATES SCARED.

Accuse Beckham of Bad Faith In Hargis Affair.

Appointment of Carnes May Cause Defeat of Entire Ticket.

Consternation has seized the candidates for State offices on the Democratic ticket as a result of the action of Gov. Beckham in appointing Judge Carnes to try the cases against the Hargis clan in Breathitt county and the way Carnes disposed of the cases. The Democratic candidates on the State ticket are up in arms over what they term an effort made by Beckham to pay a political debt. They believe that the Democratic ticket is placed in jeopardy, by the appointment of Carnes, followed by his strange rulings, which have aroused the people in the State.

Many of Beckham's enemies in the Democratic party boldly declare that he does not care a rap for the State ticket, and that he will continue to be the friend of the Hargises no matter what happens.

One of the candidates, a man who is unfriendly to Beckham, advised by many of the party leaders, is trying to arrange a meeting of all the candidates to protest against the appointment of Carnes and men like him to try the Hargis cases. It is proposed to demand of Beckham that he appoint a man of high legal attainments and one known for his fairness and honesty.

A prominent Democratic politician, says that the success of the Democratic ticket is far from certain. He said that he feared that the Republicans were going to get together, nominate a strong candidate for Governor, put good men on the ticket with him and wage an aggressive campaign with Hargis as the issue.

"If they do, the Democratic ticket is doomed almost at the beginning of the campaign to defeat," he continued. "If the ticket is defeated Beckham will be responsible. When he appointed Carnes to try the Hargises he hurt the ticket no little, but when Carnes made the stupid blunder of transferring the cases to Elliott county irreparable damage was done."

"In this connection, however, one thing is certain. If the State ticket is defeated Beckham will never go to the United States Senate. The Democrats will never consent to the election of the man who caused the defeat of their ticket. It matters not if the Legislature is Democratic and Beckham the party nominee, he will be unhorsed and sent down to defeat unless there is some light shed on this Breathitt county affair."

"The voters have come to believe that politics is at the back of it. They believe that a political promise is being fulfilled. They demand the light, and if it is not turned on the Democratic party will have to answer for it."

FOR THE BUSY READER.

It is now believed that the end of the Thaw trial is in sight, and that the case will reach the jury by Wednesday, March 27.

"Aunt Betty," as she is lovingly called by her seven children, fifty-five grandchildren, twenty great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren, has been addicted to the tobacco habit for the last ninety years. ## KY'S ILLITERACY ILLUSTRATED

Only Eight States Have Greater Per Cent. of Ignorance.

Small Pay For School Teachers and Over 1,000 Log
School Houses

[By Mrs. V. A. Gilbert.]

No more striking illustration of the evil effects of machine rule dominated by small politicians can be had than the present system under which Kentucky exists. Under it the State ranks 36 in the descending scale of illiteracy. In other words, there are only 8 States which have more illiterates than Kentucky. Including territories she ranks 42nd in illiteracy. Eliminating the negro, Kentucky is no longer 26th but 42nd in the descending scale of education. About one-fifth of our entire population can neither read nor write. This is deplorable and should make the cheeks of every true Kentuckian burn. Nor can we lay the flattering unction to our souls that this state of affairs is caused by the presence of the negro in our midst. Our negro population is much smaller than Georgia, yet Georgia, has fewer illiterates than Kentucky.

For every $1 expended in Kentucky for educational purposes, Indiana expends $1.49; Ohio, $1.87. On the other hand for every dollar earned in Kentucky, Indiana earns $1.57 and Ohio $1.45. In the 32 years between 1870 and 1902 the increase in school expenditures in Kentucky has been .39; in Georgia, .72; in Florida, .74; in West Virginia, 1.09; in Ohio, 1.13; in Massachusetts, 1.37; in Illinois, 1.39; in California, 2.29. Now, there is no better way of judging a people's attitude toward popular education and the value it places on the training of the children, than to look at their school-houses, and certainly the school-houses of Kentucky tell a pitiful and shameful story. The houses in which Kentucky farmers shelter their stock are much better and more comfortable than the houses in which their children are trained for citizenship. The work that has to do with mind and soul and body, with the shaping of character and the making of ideals is carried on in buildings that are crumbling down and dilapidated. It is said that nearly every county in the State has a costlier and more comfortable jail than any rural school house found in it. The ugly, desolate school house, with its depressing effect and demoralizing influence, and the substantial, comfortable, awe-inspiring jail follow each other in natural sequence as cause and effect. There are in Kentucky 1,238 old log school houses, to say nothing of little plank boxes, nearly as unsightly and hardly as comfortable. There are in Kentucky 2,197 schools without suitable seats and blackboards. Only think of it, nearly 100,000 of Kentucky's children humped over on backless slab benches, shivering with cold in the full blaze of this twentieth century, while searching for the long common division on a broken slate.

There are 3,584 schools without globes, maps, charts and other educational aids. This is more than half the schools in the State. For many years Kentucky has been encumbered with 25,000 school trustees. 5,000 of these can neither read nor write, and 10,000 more have no conceptions of their duties or their responsibilities. These humiliating conditions can not be explained upon the hypothesis that Kentucky enrolls a larger percentage of pupils in private schools than are enrolled by the other States. According to the same reports, referred to above, only Florida and West Virginia, among the States mentioned, fall lower than Kentucky in the percentage of pupils in private schools.

For weak kidneys and lame back use DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. Best for lumbago, rheumatism, bladder and other troubles arising from bad blood. They cleanse the kidneys and clear the system. Indorsed and sold by all druggists.

Trick Monkey and Matches.

Sweet William is the clown monkey of an educated simian troupe now at Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street theater, York. Sweet William is almost human. He accidentally was unfettered during a matinee and began to rummage. He got hold of the stage carpenter's coat. It contained a pocket box of matches.

Now matches are Sweet William's forbidden fruit. He lighted three or four and with one set fire to the carpenter's handkerchief. Presently he was on fire himself, when he dashed out on the stage, his brick red catfur sartout a crackle. The house was full of women and children and they were like a sea.

Fireman Attredge, of engine company No. 8, who was passing in the street, dashed in and from one of the stage boxes hurled a phillipic at the multitude that, taken with his blue uniform, brought it to its senses. It calmed, cool and sat down to get the rest of its money's worth. Sweet William was rolled in a coat and the fire extinguished.

URGES FARMERS TO JOIN A. S. OF E.

Large Bodies as Well as Individual Have Right of Personal Preference.

Be a refusal to work with non-union men, labor organizations occasionally excite acute irritation among non-union men and criticism from press and public. The non-union feel that in taking such action unions dictate how they shall run their business and encroach upon their rights.

The non-union seems to believe that by this course the unions monopolize farm labor and determine without the right of appeal who shall be permitted and who forbidden to work.

The question thus raised by the non-unionist is not legal but ethical. From a legal point of view there can be no doubt that the unionists have a perfect right to refuse to work with any person or persons, for any reason, good or bad.

The legal right of union farmers to boycott should not be called into question. In refusing to work with one of their fellow craftsmen they are simply doing together what they have a perfect right to do separately.

A man has a legal right to refuse to deal at a certain establishment, to give or withhold patronage, to buy where he sees fit, and what one may do a hundred or a thousand should have the right to do. No one can compel John Smith to buy goods from John Brown, and no one can compel him to enter the same car, sit in the same church, or eat at the same table. The refusal of unionists to work with non-unionists is frequently made to look like a persecution of a religious sect.

A man who is forced to join one church against his will is thereby obliged to surrender his liberty of conscience and to conform or pretend to conform to certain beliefs which are possibly repugnant to him. The union on the other hand does not ask a man to believe in anything. A unionist may be a Catholic, Protestant or a Jew, or may have or profess any belief of any kind whatsoever. All that is required is the performance of certain simple duties and the incurring of certain common obligations.

It is generally felt by unionists that the non-unionist obtains the advantage of all the sacrifices made by the union, he should also share in these sacrifices. The unionist feels and justly feels that he who reaps should sow.

It is peculiarly galling to the union to find that the men who sold their tobacco are the first to gain by sacrifices which he and not they have made. It is not in human nature to expect that a man who has borne the blunt of the conflict and the heat of day should view with equanimity his enemies, or, at all events, his lukewarm allies, enjoying the fruits of his toil in the cool of the evening.

The non-unionist who refuses to assist his fellow-craftsmen, but draws benefits from their sacrifices, should be invited to join the union or be obliged to work only with other non-unionists.

To the men who have not paid dues, who have not borne their share of the expenses of organization and struggle. The union opens wide its doors. Even at the eleventh hour these men are permitted to enter.

The union is willing to let the dead past bury its dead, to clean the slate and allow the non-unionist, who have made no sacrifice, to join the union upon the same terms as others. All that is demanded is that the cost and burden of union management and action be fairly shared in the future, and in the event of their refusal to join the union, the members simply refuse to work with them.—P. A. Shaver in Central City Republican.

CARNES' DISCRED- IBLE CHAPTER

In Kentucky History Consists In Saving Hargis.

All Seemed to be a Prearranged
Affair With Governor
Beckham.

Under the headlines of "The Hargis Coup" the Courier-Journal says: The part which Judge "Bill" Carnes has played in the Hargis affair is only another flagrantly discreditable chapter among the other discreditable chapters which make the history of Hargis gang in its relations to the courts ever since the beginning of an active effort to bring to justice the murderers of Cox and Marcum.

Carnes' qualifications for the bench when he was appointed a special judge by the Governor seems to have consisted in his willingness to do chores for the Governor in the latter's political campaigns, and as the Governor has a consistent record of giving his appointments to men whom he can count on still to do his chores his discovery of judicial timber in Carnes is not wholly inexplicable.

At any rate, Judge Carnes, by his course in the Hargis case, which he was appointed especially to try, has done everything to indicate that his conception of his duty was to prove his respect for the alliance which has long been known to exist between the ambitious politician who sits in the Governor's chair and the useful politician who bosses the Tenth district.

At every step Carnes appears to have realized, in his primitive, callow way, what is expected of a special judge in this special case. Indeed, in his primitiveness and callowness he far over-shot the mark. His rulings, when the case was called last winter, were so palpably, aggressively, uniformly and determinedly in favor of Hargis that he was not only called down by the Court of Appeals, but he drew upon himself the scrutiny of the whole State and aroused among the partisans of the prosecution such indignation that he would not go back to Jackson without a bodyguard of troops.

Thus protected he reentered the bench with his program in his pocket. And it was in carrying through this program that the Hargis crowd scored their great coup. Hargis, though ordinarily turning his back on the press, was free in informing the press that he would not agree to a change of venue; that he preferred to be tried among "his own people;" his attorneys refused every suggestion of a change made by the prosecution; and when Judge Carnes, in ostensible response to the demand throughout the State that the case should not be tried in Breathitt, announced that it should be tried in Elliott, a county which Hargis is stronger in some respects than he is in Breathitt, the defendant's attorneys gave the trick away by hotly resisting the attempt of the prosecution to have the trial take place even in Breathitt rather than in Elliott.

It was shrewdly played up to that point, but at that point it was clumsily uncovered, just as most of the Hargis tricks are sooner or later uncovered.

Still Carnes has served his purpose; Hargis has his way; and the State is no nearer than ever a trial of this case strictly on its merits, before an impartial jury.

It is a shame upon Kentuckians; a shame to all Kentuckians who honor their State and are wont to claim honor because of their State.

Wild Ride in Runaway Train.
With the whistle rope tied down and the engine screaming a warning which could be heard for miles around, a heavy coal train of twenty-two cars dashed down the Prackville grade on the Broad mountain, on the Reading tracks, recently, at the rate of seventy-five miles an hour. Fortunately, there was nothing on the road to interfere with its run, and below St. Clair, that the train could be brought to a stop.

The train ran four miles down the mountain beyond control. Around curves it sped with the speed of the fastest express, the engineer and fireman clinging to the engine, while the members of the crew were flat on their stomachs, hanging on desperately and waiting for the end. There was no use in jumping, for that meant certain death, so the only hope was that the engine and cars might keep the track. This they did, and word was telegraphed down the grade to have everything kept out of the way of the runaway.

When St. Clair was reached the brakes began to take hold, and at Dormer's the train finally came to a halt.

Roosevelt's Sure Thing Failed.

President Roosevelt is a better hunter now than he was some twenty years ago when he first went looking for the deer in Maine under the guidance of "Bill" Sewall. On that occasion he and his guide camped at a place where deer were abundant. Just before dusk Sewall placed him at a corner where he could watch the runaways. "When you see the deer you let drive," said the guide. In a few minutes a fine buck came trotting toward the ambush. Unable to restrain his joy, young Roosevelt turned and whispered: "Do you know, this is the first deer I have ever shot." Then he turned to "let drive," but the buck, whose keen ears caught the whisper, had jumped sideways and disappeared. What Sewall thought and what Roosevelt said for the next five minutes would make what Horace Greeley used to call "mighty interesting reading."

Spiders to Spin Rope.

A recent news telegram from Danville, Ky., says:

"Impressed by the great cost of producing hemp, Assessor R. D. Bruce has set on foot a plan to replace the industry by the use of giant African spiders. Mr. Bruce is now in the south, completing arrangements for a spider hatchery. It is stated, and will organize a stock company to further the project.

"According to Mr. Bruce, the dark continent produces a certain kind of spider, which at maturity is the size of a Maltese cat and weaves a web as large as broom twine and as strong. These, he says, are easily domesticated and are fairly intelligent. For years the natives have utilized the webs for fishing seines. He says that one African mogul, in response to a letter, writes that the spiders can be profitably produced by means of incubators. Mr. Bruce believes the raising of hemp will be entirely supplanted."

DOWIE'S CAREER COMES TO CLOSE

Head of Church of Zion Expires Suddenly.

Relapses Into Delirium Before
Death Hurts Incoherent Anathemas.

Chicago, March 9.—John Alexander Dowie died at 7:40 this morning at Shiloh house, Zion city. There were present with him when he died only Judge D. N. Barnes and two personal attendants. It had been his custom all summer to hold religious services every Sunday afternoon in the parlor of Shiloh house. About 350 of his original followers remained faithful and attended these services. Dowie always wore his apostolic robes.

Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning Dowie became delirious, and his talk was the same as at a religious meeting in the days of his prime. He denounced people with the old-time vigor, ordered the guards to throw out disturbers, and acted just as he had on so many previous occasions. John Alexander Dowie was born in Edinburg, Scotland, May 25, 1847. In 1860 his parents removed to Adelaide, Australia, where for several years, the youth was clerk in a business house. Here Dowie developed the commercial instinct that served him so well later in life. He saved enough money during that period to return to Edinburg, at the age of 20 to take a five-years' course in theology and the arts. He became a master of Greek and Hebrew, and cultivated a literary taste, that resulted in after years in a library of 10,000 volumes, with which he was thoroughly familiar.

Six years of denominational activity wearied Dowie, who longed for a wider field of operation. He forsook his church and in 1878, went to Melbourne, where he set up a free Christian tabernacle—the first of its kind—and organized a divine healing association, which afterwards became international in character. He became president of this association and gained fame by going out into the country during the prevalence of putrid fever and apparently affecting many cures by praying and the laying on of hands.

After ten years in Melbourne, Dowie decided to remove to England, where his association had a number of branches, but the fates took him across the Pacific, and his announced intention of making Great Britain the world headquarters was never carried out. Dowie landed in San Francisco in 1888, needing money. He needed $250, and had just told his wife he had "asked God for it," when a man he had not seen in months came along and put the amount in his hand. That was the starting point in his wonderful money-getting career in the western world. Two years of wandering along the California coast followed, and then in 1890, "Doctor Dowie," his wife his son, Alexander John Gladstone Dowie, and his daughter, Esther, arrived in Chicago, which was the theater of his great work.

During the next five years Dowie was arrested at least a hundred times for the violation of city ordinances relating to the care of the sick but the more trouble that was made for him the more he prospered in reality. Branch churches were established in other cities; a large hospital for the healing of the sick was built in Chicago, and a college for the training of missionaries was organized; a printing plant put in operation, and a bank was also started.

The Christian Catholic church in Zion City, the outgrowth of the original International Divine Healing association, was formally organized in February, 1890, Dowie becoming general overseer. Four years afterwards, Dowie, before a large audience in the auditorium theater, announced that he was Elijah, the Restorer, spoken of in Malachi. This assumption of a Biblical personality created even a more of a sensation among his followers than any of the worldly successes of the "prophet."

Previous to this Dowie had marked out his plans for Zion City, the crowning effort of his life. Six thousand acres of land were purchased or secured by options, and in August of 1901, the first building was erected in Zion City, which a year later had a population of 10,000.

Cures Woman's Weaknesses.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John E. Fife, one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW, says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription":

"A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator * * * makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system. He continues: 'In Helonias we have a medication which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent.' Dr. Fife further says: 'The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhoea; atonic (weak) condition of the reproductive organs of women, mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagic (flooding), due to a weakness of the control of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea (suppressed or absent monthly periods), arising from or accompanying an atonic condition of the digestive organs and a general (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

"If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medicinal properties of which it most faithfully represents."

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says:

"It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Schuder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root:

"In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal:

"Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhoea (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

got home thought that he would go boldly to the bathroom and take a bath. That would remove from his wife's mind any suspicion as to his condition. It would show her, in a word, that he was all right. So he undressed filled the tub and plunged in. Hot and enfevered as he was, he enjoyed the bath. As he splashed and scrubbed and puffed, he heard a slight noise, and, looking up, saw his wife in the doorway. His wife was regarding him with an expression of unspeakable contempt. He was rather amazed at that. But he said nothing. He lowered his head and went on scrubbing. 'Well, what are you doing?' she asked. 'Can't you see what I'm doing?' he answered. He rubbed on some more lather. 'I'm taking a bath.' She said and said as she turned to go: 'Why don't you take off your underclothes, then?'

OLDEST APPLE ORCHARD IN UNITED STATES.

Venerable Trees Planted in New Mexico by Franciscan Monks
Still Standing.

The oldest apple orchard in America, if not in the world, is in the center of the ancient town of Manzano, New Mexico. Many of the trees are more than six feet in circumference, but all are still fruitful and vigorous, although neglected for generations. Little is known of the history of this orchard but the oldest inhabitants of the valley of the Rio Grande remember, the orchard from childhood, and claim that the trees have not changed in appearance since then. Venerable Mexicans and Pueblo Indians tell of visiting the orchard as far back as they can remember, and finding apples on the ground in all stages of decomposition at least two feet deep.

The Estancia valley has been peopled for ages, probably by the kinsmen of the natives found by the Spanish explorers at Gran Quivira, Abo and other ancient cities. Probably in the early days of the Spanish occupation, some Franciscan monk found his way to Manzano and there planted the seeds that have developed into these venerable trees. They are no doubt fully three hundred years old.

Close by the orchard is a little lake, fed by a large spring. A short distance away is a grove of pines and cedars, making an ideal place for picnic and camping parties.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured with Local Applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

SHORT CROP LONG PRICES

Urged by President Davenport of the A. S. of E.

No Need to Raise Big Crops and Sell at Little Price.

To tobacco growers:—Another season of production approaches. Soon each grower will prepare the soil, sow the seed, cultivate and anticipate a good crop. But what will the harvest be? Will it be rich in pounds and poor in dollars, as it was in the years of 1902, 1903 and 1904? This all rests with the boys in the furrows themselves. If you are tired of the old and uncertain way, I ask you in the name of everything that is near, dear and sacred to you as a tobacco grower, to change to the right and certain way for the 1907 crop. The only way under the sun is through the A. S. of E. and the reduction of the acreage. We must regulate the supply to meet the demand. There is a surplus of tobacco. As evidence of the truthfulness of this statement I refer to the attitude of the tobacco trade or trust to our pooled tobacco. By drawing from their reserve stocks and buying every pound they can from the dumper he has given the trust enough tobacco to supply the trade, hence the results have been this: We (the organized farmers) have been forced to hold our tobacco from twelve to eighteen months before a sale could be made. The above statement is good evidence that a surplus exists somewhere. The mere fact that, recently, some large sales have been made is not at all encouraging, and should not act as a stimulus to cause the planting of a bumper crop.

The tobacco that has recently been sold still exists, and must go into consumption before it is out of the way.

The report of the Secretary of Agriculture for the year 1906 shows that we fail to curtail production. The Secretary's report shows that we produced 45,000,000 pounds more in 1906 than we did in 1905. In other words, the tobacco growers added 45,000,000 pounds more to their already heavy load, and is forcing the growers everywhere to change to the system. Let everyone put his shoulder to the wheel and pull the production down to 600,000,000 pounds on the 1907 crop. Let us, for one time, produce a short crop and sell it for a long price. Both knowledge and wisdom are before us and truth stares us in the face at every turn, and the man who doesn't absorb them in every part of his skin must refuse to receive them, and if he refuses to learn it is because he is a traitor and a Benedict Arnold to his country. I take this means to sound a note of warning. The trust has its hirings all through the tobacco belt, advising the farmers to plant a bumper crop this year. I ask the man on the outside to ponder the question well. When he gets to thinking of planting a bumper crop and taking that sneaking and undermining advantage of his organized neighbors, do you think the Great Giver of all good will reward his efforts along that line? Once to every man and nation comes the moment to decide, for the good or evil side. Choose ye this day whom you will serve—home wife and other dear ones, or Prince Ferigo or King Duke. I appeal to all that is noble and good in every home and liberty-loving tobacco grower. Let the war cry be down with the acreage in the good year 1907. Fraternally, E. L. DAVENPORT, Pres. Cisney, Ky., Feb. 26, 1907.

Health in the Canal Zone.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to contract the Panama Canal. Many are restrained however by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters, who go there without this fear, well knowing they are safe from malarious influence with Electric Bitters on hand. Cures blood poison too, biliousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50c.

Dealing With Pear Blight.

The treatment of the disease may be classed under two general heads: (1). Methods which aim to put the tree in condition to resist blight or to render it less liable to the disease, and (2). methods for exterminating the microbe itself, which is of first importance for, if carried out fully, there can be no blight. The methods under the first head must unfortunately be directed more or less to checking the growth of the tree and, therefore are undesirable except in cases where it is thought that the blight will eventually get beyond control in the orchard. Under the head of cultural methods which favor or hinder pear blight, as the case may be, the most important are the pruning, fertilizing, cultivation and irrigation, but details in regard to these need not be given here, as the main reliance must be placed in the only really satisfactory method of controlling the disease; that is, the extermination of the microbes which cause it. Every particle of blight should be cut out and burned while the trees are dormant, not a single active case being allowed to survive the winter in the orchard or within a half mile or so from it.

Every family should have a representative newspaper from the metropolis of a State, in addition to the home newspaper. The Louisville Herald is up-to-date in its news service, is clean and bright and meets every requirement. The publisher of this paper has arranged to club The Republican with the Daily Herald and offers the two papers at $2.00 per year. The special price quoted by The Louisville Herald is for a limited period only. Send in your subscription to us before this splendid offer expires.

With Few Exceptions.

Wilton Lackaye says that while on a downtown L. train one morning recently he chanced to overhear portions of an interesting conversation between two young women occupying adjoining seats.

"I see by the paper," observed one of the young women, "that Mr. Blank, the octogenarian, is dead. What on earth is an octogenarian, anyhow?"

"I don't know, I'm sure," was the reply, "but there's one thing certain—they're a sickly lot of people. You never hear of one unless he is dying."—Lippincott's Magazine.

How to Get Winter Eggs.

For winter layers you can put your faith in small flocks of early hatched pullets, uniform in size, shape and age, says New York Tribune. The winter layers are scarce as hens' teeth in a big flock of all sizes and ages. The farmer who spares neither time nor expense to provide separate quarters for other stock on the farm think there is no use doing the same with poultry, and pullets and yearlings and two-year-olds are all kept together. This is a mistake many farmers make. The large flocks never lay well, especially in winter, and in a mixed lot the proper amount of feed for one type is too much or too little for another.

No extra warm house is needed, but few eggs will be produced in a house so cold that the tall, overhanging comb, of the Leghorn will freeze. Good layers and a poultry house where the wind, rain, and the snow can enter are found in the same firm.

The refuse from the hay loft is fine material for making a litter for the hens to scratch in. The fowls will eat the leaves and seeds from the clover—both good feeds. The lime in the clover helps to make a thick eggshell, and that is what the market desires. The hen do not enjoy scratching in damp, heavy litter; it should be changed and stirred up occasionally. To prevent dirt being scratched into grit boxes, water fountains, etc., attach them to the wall just handy for the fowls to reach.

Sheaf wheat and oats are egg producing foods and are among the best foods that can be given in cold weather to give the fowls needed exercise to keep them warm. To lay in cold weather the hens must have enough food for bodily needs and some surplus for warmth and eggs. An amount of food that produces eggs in winter would be considered heavy feeding in summer. When the price of eggs is counted at this season it is certainly profitable to give the hens enough feed to make them lay, else what we do give is a total loss. The proper amount of feed and regular feeding and water are important.

The habit of laying is usually hereditary, but once in a while a pullet bred from a prolific layer is a failure as an egg producer. The pullet that is a shy layer will be a failure in this respect to the end of the chapter. It is well to keep an eye open and find out which are the busy birds and best layers and breed from them; and be sure the males you get are from good laying strains. A nervous, active hen, with long deep body, is generally a good layer in spite of disadvantages.

When Beveridge Tapped Taft.

Senator Beveridge of Indiana, the other afternoon administered such a reproof to Secretary Taft as is not likely to be forgotten in a hurry by the big Ohio man. The Senator was delivering his speech on the child labor bill—an effort which had cost him a week's preparation. Almost from the beginning of his remarks he was annoyed by the hum of conversation immediately behind him. Turning, he saw Secretary Taft in animated discussion with a group of senators. Looking straight at the secretary, he said, in clear tones: "If I am disturbing you I will suspend until your conversation is finished." The secretary's face flushed until it seemed as though he would explode but after a few moments he left the chamber.

We are authorized to announce W. W. PARK of the Beda Precinct, a candidate for Representative in the General Assembly from this, the 26th district, subject to the action of the Republican party.

Examine the label on your paper, if it is not correct notify us.

Ten to one the President has found in Senator Blackburn a man who will not resign his Panama job.

Jerome and Delmas could soon become millionaires, if they should decide to take their show on the road.

We have seen nothing since our last issue to cause us to withdraw our remarks on the question of good roads.

Vote for no one for the Legislature, this year, who is not willing to provide a State fund to aid the counties in building better roads.

If the President would order a free distribution of the coins, instead of putting a new design on them, he would increase his popularity very much.

The dispatches say that Blackburn has ordered his horses sent to Panama. Does he intend to make the mint bed so large as to require a team and plow?

Louisville policemen are under orders to keep their coats buttoned up at all times. With so many pick pockets in Louisville, this is a wise precaution.

Since the Democrats at Lexington registered and voted 1,500 negroes in their primary election recently, most self respecting, well informed Democratic papers in Kentucky, have dropped the negro as a political "scare crow."

The Chicago Journal tells us that the people have given $32,000,000 to the board of education. However, the people did not know about it until John D. Rockefeller told them. It won't be so bad though if he don't assess us again to make good the amount.

We hope the Louisville Street Railway employees will win out in their fight for the right to organize. The Street Railway Company has always been very slow to make any concessions in the interest, or for the convenience of its patrons, and hence is not likely to have much sympathy from the public in the present struggle.

It begins to look like the Court of Appeals had concluded to wait until after the election to decide the re-districting cases. When it was first suggested that this might be the plan hit upon, to avoid an extra session of the Legislature, and thereby relieve the Governor of any further embarrassment upon the "lid" question we could not believe it.

If the President desires to know how truly he is returning good for evil to the Kentucky Democrats, by his appointment of "fire eating" Joe Blackburn to a $10,000 job, he might inquire into the number of Republicans appointed by Gov. Beckham or any other Democratic Governor, upon the State Board for charitable institutions, and other supposedly non-partisan positions.

Alexander Dowie was undoubtedly a man of a certain high order of ability. Had he given his talents to an exalted field, his end might have been far different. His example should be a solemn warning to young men. It does not pay to humbug the people, if you can. For a long time Dowie seemed to succeed in doing so, and garnered in his millions, only to die bereft and an outcast.

Because of the present unjust legislative district apportionment, in the allotment of free scholarships at the Western State Normal School, situated at Bowling Green, Ohio county gets 5, while McLean, Hancock, Bullitt, Meade and Spencer get 10 each. The only way this outrage can be represented by Ohio county manhood, is at the ballot box. We shall feel that we have been very much mistaken in the pride of our people, if they fail to do it.

Prospects for a Republican victory in the State election this year have grown so bright that there is likely to be a hot contest for every place on the ticket, at the convention to be held in Louisville June 19th. Let us give the people a ticket above reproach, made up of men whose character and qualifications cannot be questioned. Such a ticket on a platform pledging impartial, but firm enforcement of the laws, reform in every department of the State, abolishment of needless offices and reduction of taxes, will sweep the present oligarchy from power for good.

Any party which will deliberately disfranchise a county, as has been done in the case of Ohio county, in representation in the House of Representatives, is unworthy of support. Political rights are even more sacred than property rights. We object, seriously, to entrusting our property rights further to a set of men who are so devoid of common honesty as to take away our political rights. The great county of Ohio should record her full 6,000 votes against the party which would take from her the voice which is given to little Bullitt, McLean, Spencer and Hancock. Ohio is equal in area, or population to any three of them.

For the last two State elections, the Democrats have made Caleb Powers the issue. They cannot complain, if the Republicans make Hargis the issue this year. Through the law placing in the hands of the Governor the appointment of special Circuit Judges, the responsibility of the farce, which is becoming more disgusting every day, in the trial of Jim Hargis, is laid squarely at Beckham's door. Because the people, for seven long years, have stood untold abuse of power, it must not be taken for granted that they will always remain passive. It is the "last feather which breaks the camel's back." In this case, it is a mountain, instead of a feather.

HARGIS AND POWERS.

In no uncertain tones the press of Kentucky, regardless of politics, is sounding the death knell of the present regime at Frankfort. On top of the Beckham-Carnes farce at Jackson, comes the announcement of the selection of Judge Robins to again sit in judgment over Caleb Powers. This at once suggests to the fair minded people a comparison of the extremes to which the administration has gone to convict Powers, the Republican, and to acquit Hargis, the Democrat. Powers' last sentence was reversed, because of Judge Robins unfair rulings against him, and yet in face of that, he is again selected by the Governor to try him.

This outrage against the State smells to Heaven, and causes even the rock-ribbed Courier-Journal to condemn the whole crowd in the following unmistakable language: "The way justice has been diverted, burlesqued and outraged in the whole course of the Hargis episode, and the way it has been set at naught with the utmost impunity by the anarchists of the western part of the State fill its friends with despair. Verily, there is something rotten in Kentucky. To be more exact, there is something rotten in the government of Kentucky. And some day those who have betrayed their trust are going to feel the force of a virtue-loving people's righteous indignation."

Just a Few Facts.

James Hargis, former boss of Breathitt county has been indicted for murder.

James Hargis is a member of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Democratic papers all over the State have called for his removal from the State Central Committee, but some occult, powerful influence keeps him there.

In the contest for nominations at the last Democratic primary Hargis was a strong Beckham-Hager supporter.

Beckham and Hargis carried the counties where Hargis' influence predominated by enormous majorities. "Bill" Carnes, a Beckham-Hager man, was appointed to try the Hargis case in Breathitt county.

"Bill" Carnes, the Beckham-Hager appointee, removed the Hargis case to Elliott county.

Elliott is the home of Judge Weddington, former County Judge, and a cousin of Jim Hargis.

Elliott county forms part of the new Thirty-second Judicial district, formed by the Beckham-Hager men in the last Legislature.

The Circuit Judge of the Thirty-second district is M. M. Redwine, appointed by Gov. Beckham.

M. M. Redwine is the brother of the notorious D. B. Redwine, a business and political friend of Jim Hargis.

Judge Redwine is a brother also of Dr. J. S. Redwine, Superintendent of the State Insane Asylum, another Beckham appointee.

We invite impartial Democrats to ponder over these facts. Then we shall ask, What are they going to do about it?

MILITIA MAY BE ORDERED OUT

To Quell Disturbances in Louisville Strike.

No Prospects of Peace Are in Sight--Mayor Barth is Determined.

Louisville, Ky., March 13.—All prospects of peace in the strike of union employees of the Louisville Railway company seem to have disappeared and the militia will, in all probability, be brought to Louisville within the next twenty-four hours to preserve order and to prevent the destruction of property. For a time to-day was thought that as the result of strong pressure brought to bear by the business interests of the city, and especially the directors of the Greater Louisville Exposition and the Commercial Club, would result in a basis for arbitration. These efforts appear now to have been wholly futile.

Committees from the business organizations visited the officials of the Street Railway Company and of the motormen and conductors. A basis for arbitration was almost arranged, but a fatal snag was struck. The railroad officials balked at arbitrating the question of recognition of the union and finally declared that they could not consider unionizing their system. This is the one point that the union men are most anxious to have arbitrated, and thus the conference ended.

Mayor Barth said this afternoon, after having sworn in 100 extra policemen, that he intended to have order restored without further delay and that he would not hesitate to call on Governor Beckham for troops. Although the mayor has not said so, it is believed that troops will be called for to-morrow.

A number of strike breakers arrived to-day. All of the strike breakers are under the command of Captain Pellen, of Chicago, an assistant of Fairleigh, the famous strike breaker. It was stated to-day that if Pellen is unable to break the strike promptly, Fairleigh himself will come to Louisville and take command.

There was much disorder during the day and many people were injured and scores of arrests were made.

Among the Lodges.

Hartford Lodge No. 675, F. & A. M., held a call session last Saturday night, at which the fellow Craft degree was conferred. The lodge has received the new lantern slides for illustration in the lectures and it is expected to aid materially in the work. A degree team has been organized for the third which will be given first Monday night in April.

At the regular meeting of Rough River lodge K. of P. last Tuesday night, it was decided to order suitable grave markers to be used in connection with the memorial and decoration services to be held this Spring. It was decided to have a luncheon Tuesday night, 26th and order the presence of each member, as important business is to come before the lodge. Knights J. C. Her, Roscoe Renter and Ramey Duke were appointed committee on lunch. Knights, J. R. Pirtle, R. D. Walker and E. E. Birkhead were appointed to arrange suitable entertainment for the occasion.

The Maccabees had one initiation last night, and a good attendance. The following order has been promulgated by M. F. Elkin, State Commander: "I hereby call a convention of representatives of the various tents of Maccabees of Kentucky to be held in Covington on May 7, 1907. The purpose of this convention is the election of one representative to the Supreme tent from the State of Kentucky, as provided in Chap. 126, laws of the association. M. F. ELKIN, State Com. Approved by order of Supreme Executive. L. E. SISLER, Sup. R. K."

The members of Keystone Chapter No. 110, Royal Arch Masons, have each received a summons signed by Secretary Vickers, commanding them to be present at the regular convocation to-morrow night. Besides having degree work, it is understood that matters of great importance are to be considered.

TAFFY.

March 9.—The farmers of the A. S. of E. met March 8 for the purpose of discussing the question of building a warehouse for pooling tobacco at this place. President of the committee, J. H. Ambrose, opened the discussion advocating the warehouse, on which several others made talks.

The select school at Mt. Moriah that is being taught by Miss Mayme Shown, is progressing nicely and those who are attending seem to be very much pleased with their teacher.

Theory Versus Practice.

The Constitution of Kentucky provides, Section 1: "All men are by nature, free and equal, and have certain inherent and inalienable rights, among which may be reckoned:

"First, the right of enjoying and defending their lives and liberties.

"Second, the right of worshiping Almighty God according to the dictates of their consciences.

"Third, the right of seeking and pursuing their safety and happiness.

"Fourth, the right of freely communicating their thoughts and opinions."

This clear and laudable declaration, worthy of believers in the Declaration of Independence, is reduced to practice by Democratic bosses after this fashion:

Republicans are not the equals of Democrats. Republicans may defend their lives and liberties just to such extent only as the Democratic bureaucrats see fit.

Republicans may worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their consciences so long as that conscience does not conflict with machine interests.

Republicans may seek and pursue safety and happiness, but only after Democrats have cleaned the platter.

Republicans have the right of freely communicating thoughts and opinions as to crops, weather, ancient history and astronomy, but not on current Kentucky politics.

Democratic law breakers of the Jim Hargis type must be tried in a Democratic county, by a Democratic jury exclusively. The Hon. Mr. Hargis is a mountaineer and a Democrat, and entitled to such delicate considerations.

Republican mountaineers accused of murder are tried and convicted in Democratic counties, far removed from the mountains, by juries on which no Republican is permitted to serve. Being Republicans, these unfortunate persons are entitled to none of the considerations accorded Boss Hargis.—Louisville Herald.

Spring Humors

Impure or effete matters accumulated in the blood during the winter cause in the spring such disfiguring and painful troubles as boils, pimples, and other eruptions, also weakness, loss of appetite, that tired feeling.

The best medicine to take is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which thoroughly cleanses the blood, and effects permanent cures by giving healthy functional activity to the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and skin.

Sarsaparilla is Hood's Sarsaparilla in chocolate tablet form. They have identically the same curative properties as the liquid form, besides accuracy of dose, convenience, economy, no loss by evaporation, breakage, or leakage. It is of druggists or promptly of us by mail. C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

The continuous rain has begun to affect farm work to a serious extent. So far, it has been too wet to burn plant beds in the low lands, and corn ground could not be broken before April first, if the rain should cease now.

The "City dads" are catching it on all sides, because of our deplorable street crossings. It is to be hoped that before another winter the stepping stones can be replaced. It has been abundantly demonstrated that crushed rock will not make a crossing.

Within the last few days the idea of a union hall, to be erected on the lot recently sold to the Knights of Pythias by the county, has been advanced. The suggestion seems to have struck a popular chord, and an effort will be made to get the two lodges together in the undertaking. All agree that, with such a union, a fraternity hall could be built that would be a credit to Hartford.

CALEB POWERS IN JAIL SEVEN YEARS

Waiting for His Fourth Trial, Prisoner is Now Incarcerated at Georgetown.

Seven years ago last Sunday Caleb Powers, then Secretary of State, was arrested at Lexington on the charge of being a party to the murder of William Goebel. Since that time he has been in jail, spending the most of the time in jail at Louisville. He is now in jail at Georgetown, where he will remain until May, when he will be tried for the fourth time on the charge of murder.

In the past seven years Powers has seen the inside of jails at Lexington, Frankfort, Versailles, Georgetown, Louisville and Newport. He was tried in July, 1900, at Georgetown and given a life sentence in the penitentiary. The Court of Appeals reversed this verdict and Powers was tried a second time at Georgetown October, 1901. Again he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The powers case was again carried to the Court of Appeals, and in December, 1902, he was granted a new trial. The third trial was held at Georgetown in August, 1903, and he was sentenced to death. The case was again appealed, and for the third time the verdict of the jury was set aside. This was in December, 1904. Nothing unusual happened in 1905, and Powers spent the time quietly in jail in Louisville.

In 1906, at the instance of the late R. D. Hill, District Attorney for Kentucky, Powers' attorney carried the case to the Federal Court, and a motion made before Judge Cochran, of the Federal Court for the Eastern district of Kentucky, that he take jurisdiction of the case on the ground that the constitutional rights of the defendant were violated in the State courts. Judge Cochran assumed jurisdiction, and Powers was removed to jail at Newport. In March of the same year, however, the Supreme Court reversed the ruling of Judge Cochran and sent the case back to the Kentucky court.

The fourth trial of Powers will come up at Georgetown in May. The case will be tried by Judge J. E. Robbins, of Graves county, who presided at the last trial. Powers protested against the appointment of Judge Robbins, but the Governor paid no attention to his protests.

"In 1897 I had a stomach disease. Some physicians said Dyspepsia, some consumption. One said I would not live until spring. For four years I existed on boiled milk, soda biscuits, and doctors' prescriptions. I could not digest anything I ate; then I picked up one of your Almanacs and it happened to be my life-saver. I bought a fifty cent bottle of KODOL and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. In two months I went to work, as a machinist, and in three months I was well and hearty. May you live long and prosperous."—C. N. Cornell, Roding, Ga., 1906. The above is only a sample of the great good that is daily done everywhere by Kodol for Dyspepsia. It is sold here by all druggists. m

Pettus' Punctilious Standard.

The punctilious standard of responsibility set up for himself by Senator Pettus, of Alabama, was illustrated a few days ago. A dapper young man called upon him, the grandson of an old southern friend long dead. The caller talked Mr. Pettus out of $50, promising to return in a few days, but the Senator learned that the young man had immediately deserted his wife and had gone to parts unknown. The fine old gentleman lost no time in hunting up the deserted wife, gave her enough money to meet her pressing necessities and also paid her way back to her girlhood home in Alabama. "If I hadn't loaned the young scamp money," said Senator Pettus, when asked about the incident, "he would not have been able to get out of Washington and desert his poor little wife. I therefore hold myself responsible for her unhappy plight, and, of course, there was nothing for me to do but send her back home to her people."

She'd Wait for his Return.

A Philadelphia clergyman was talking about the late Sam Small. "I once heard him speak," he said, "and his humor and eloquence impressed me deeply."

"He had a happy knack of illustration. He wanted, I remember, to illustrate the frailty that is a part of even the best characters, and he told a story about a brave young soldier."

"This soldier, he said, enlisted in the Spanish-American war, and he fought like a lion for his country. The firm he had worked for himself, told his wife that all the time he was away they would pay half his wages to her."

"Accordingly, at the end of the first week the young woman called at the office, and the head of the firm handed her $9."

"She looked at the money, and her face clouded over."

"'Nine dollars?' she said."

"'Yes,' said the head, a little hurt; 'that is just half. I'm sorry you are not satisfied,' said he to the young woman, 'but all along he's been telling me that his pay was only $14 a week. Wait till he gets home! If them Spaniards don't kill him, I will!'"

A cross and peevish child is not natural. There is something wrong. Usually it's the stomach. Use Cascasweet and put the stomach right, and the sunshine will return to the baby's face. Cascasweet is best for babies and children. 50 doses 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. m

Hints to Housekeepers

Polished tables may be kept in good condition if about once a week they are rubbed with a mixture of equal parts of turpentine and olive oil. Apply with a piece of flannel, afterwards polishing with a dry cloth.

To keep cheese, wrap it in a clean, fresh cloth that has been wet in vinegar and then wrung out as dry as possible. Wrap it in a paper bag and put in a dry place. If prepared in this manner, the cheese will not dry out or mould for a long time.

Hot water taken freely half an hour before bedtime is an excellent cathartic in the case of constipation, while it has a soothing effect upon the stomach and bowels.

If you have to take raw eggs to build up your strength (and there's nothing much better), take them without beating them up—without breaking the yolk. A dash of rich grape juice over the egg, a quick swallow, and although you feel that a glove stretcher has been applied to your throat, the egg is down, and all you taste is a delicious bit of grape juice. Try taking it another time with a squeeze of lemon juice on it, or beaten up with lemon juice, sugar and water—egg lemonade, in fact. And beating up with milk is still another way.

An easy way of cutting hard butter in even slices or tiny squares, consists in folding a piece of the waxed paper in which butter is wrapped, over the knife when a smooth cut be made without breaking or crumbling the butter.

Children should be accustomed as soon as possible to sleep in a dark room. Unless they have learned to be afraid of it darkness is soothing to the nerves, and the rest is more profound and refreshing than when there is the unconscious stimulation of light.

Building a Child's Character.

Some interesting contracts are being drawn between the parent's method and the school teacher's method of making a child good in a series of interviews with an expert teacher, now running in the New Idea Woman's Magazine. In the April number the subject of the interview is "The Insolent Child," and Miss Farrell, the teacher, who is the Superintendent of Education among backward and unmanageable children in New York City, gave it as her opinion that insolence in a child arose as a rule from imitation. She brought out a nice point, however, in regard to rousing a child to disrespect and anger as follows:

"But may there not be cases where so-called insolence arises from exasperation or bad temper on the part of the child? A mother might say, 'You must not do this,' and the child retort, 'I will, I don't care what you say.'"

"Yes, but if the teacher knew that child, if she knew it would make that answer, she would not give it an opportunity to retort. The teacher avoids that whole side of his nature. She does not command. She requests. That is where many parents would differ from a teacher; and teachers of a past generation would differ from teachers of to-day. They would command, not ask. The teacher, however, by asking instead of commanding, gets the thing she wants, while the child is not liable to irritation."

"Is it good for the child to be treated so?"

"Well, there are many people who say it is not. 'You are just avoiding the problem,' they say. But it builds up the habit of compliance, and this is what we want. And if we believe that life is a matter of habits, we are willing to build them up the best way we can. Habit is a tremendous strong thing. It is a habit of replying courteously, the habit of doing good things, that counts. I think it is all habit myself."

A Humane Appeal.

A humane citizen of Richmond, Ind., Mr. U. D. Williams, 107 West Main St., says: "I appeal to all persons with weak lungs to take Dr. King's New Discovery, the only remedy that has helped me and fully comes up to the proprietor's recommendation." It saves more lives than all other throat and lung remedies put together. Used as a cough and cold cure the world over. Cures asthma, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, hoarseness, and phthisis, stops hemorrhages of the lungs and builds them up. Guaranteed at all druggists drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. m

Killed By Funny Story.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Bennett, wife of Fred K. H. Bennett, of Trenton, is dead as the result of a funny story told by her husband a week ago, says a Trinton dispatch. She laughed so heartily that she burst a blood vessel, and death ensued after several days of intense suffering. Three years ago Mrs. Bennett's two sons were drowned together while swimming in the canal.

The Bennetts were at dinner when the husband told the fatal joke, which was about a young man who telephoned to his wife that six or eight of their relatives were coming to dinner and that she had better get a slice of ham for the meal.

The wife laughed until she became unconscious. Despite the best medical and surgical skill that could be procured, Mrs. Bennett suffered great agony before she passed away.

What are Capons.

Capons are aptly termed the "finest Chicken Meat in the World," for there is nothing growing feathers their equal or superior. A Capon is neither rooster or hen—it is nothing else than a capon. After removing the testicles from the cockerel, its nature becomes entirely changed. They take on a more rapid growth, are more tame, awkward in carriage and always exceedingly lazy, takes on a very heavy and beautiful plumage, the comb and wattles cease to grow, the spurs do not develop as in the cockerel; and being cast off by both rooster and hen, soon show a fondness for the society of little chicks. To these they will act as mother, covering them with their heavy plumage at night or leading them about during the day. In France this is extensively practiced, which unfettered by the cares of her feathered family, becomes a layer only. France is the foremost nation on the globe for bringing much out of the little. That they universal practice caponizing is a proof of the large and successful results to be derived from the operation, says Poultry Success.

A Boy's Logical Mind.

Mrs. Ada Dean, the woman jockey of Grafton, Mass., said the other day of snobbishness:

"The greatest preventive of snobbishness is charity, unselfishness, sympathy. If he who despises people, thinking them beneath him, were to get to know the people he despises he would like them, and he would perceive that they were not so far beneath him as he had imagined.

"I know a little boy, a well-dressed wealthy boy, who was playing one afternoon with some dirty urchins in rags."

"Johnny," cried the little boy's mother in tones of horror, 'come here at once.'

"And when he came, she added: 'Don't you know those are bad boys for you to play with?'

"Yes, mother," he replied, 'but then I am a good boy for them to play with.'

Its Worth Remembering.

The gossips never secure "permanent jobs."

That happiness is found only when you look within, not without.

That love may be ever so great, but must also be wise to grow.

That a fool is never so foolish but that he may teach another fool something.

That to be poor without losing self respect or a sense of enjoyment is a fine art.

That kindness of any true sort must be expressed in terms of the recipient, not of the donor.

That capability marks some men, importance others, but that indispensability attaches to none.

That friendship which is genuine may invariably be recognized in that it is neither jealous nor selfish.

That indolence among the rich is more to be condemned than ignorance among the poor. The rich know better.

That intellectual worth is more clearly shown in the complete and accurate knowledge of one's own abilities.

That mediocrity; provided it be persevering accomplishes more than fitful talent. Hares and tortoises still run races.—Success Magazine.

Nervous Indigestion

The action of digestion is controlled by nerves leading to the stomach. When they are weak, the stomach is deprived of its energy. It has no power to do its work. If you want permanent relief, you must restore this energy. Dr. Miles' Nervine restores nervous energy, and gives the organs power to perform their functions.

"For many years I was an acute sufferer from nervous indigestion; at times I was so despondent life seemed almost a burden. I tried all kinds of remedies and various physicians with little or no relief, until one night last summer I saw Dr. Miles' Nervine and Heart Cure advertised. I resolved to make one more trial which I did in the purchase of one bottle of Nervine and one of Heart Cure. In a few days I began to feel better, which encouraged me so much that I continued the medicine until I had taken more than a dozen bottles. I am very much improved in every way; in body, mind and spirits since. I make a special point to recommend the medicine, and I feel a sincere pleasure in knowing that several persons have been benefited through my recommendations."

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

BUSINESS COLLEGES ARE FAILURES

In small cities and towns, because:

1. There is not a sufficient population to support a GOOD school.
2. Such schools are usually conducted by persons who are NOT qualified, or who make it a practice to travel about and defraud their patrons.
3. There are few if any opportunities for their graduates to secure employment in such localities.
4. The THOROUGH business colleges are located in the larger cities and are conducted by persons who are qualified.
5. The graduates of business colleges in small cities or towns can not secure employment in large cities when thrown in competition with the THOROUGH graduates of high-class schools, as business men have no time to experiment with incompetents.

Therefore, be wise. Send for the finest 68-page catalogue ever issued by a commercial school, before deciding to throw away your money for a worthless training at some cheap school.

exhibits for the big Louisville event, it is now assured that Louisville will be able to offer to her visitors, from March 18 to 30, an opportunity of seeing the most novel collection of government exhibits ever shown in any great exposition. President Roosevelt has graciously agreed to press the button which will officially set the exposition in motion, and has instructed Secretary Loeb to make the necessary arrangements for the ceremony, which will take place in his office March 18.

The government exhibits are now in process of packing. It is understood, and they will soon be on their way to Louisville, where they will be seen by countless Kentuckians and other Southerners, as well as the people in a broad strip of Indiana and scattered delegations from nearly all the large cities in the United States where the Greater Louisville Exposition is about to be initiated. The arrangements which were begun during the month of December by A. T. Macdonald, President of the Exposition Company, were recently completed by Fred Levy, its Vice President, both of whom made lengthy trips to Washington, being greatly assisted there by Kentucky congressmen and government officials.

According to the latest plans, there will be sent to Louisville from the Treasury Department complete exhibits of the currency of the United States, and the various issues of internal revenue stamps which have been used at different periods of our national life. Both of these exhibits are very valuable, and heavy bond was required of the Exposition Company, showing that Uncle Sam values his relics and takes every precaution to protect them from harm or loss. These exhibits are attractively framed, with the view of offering the closest possible inspection without handling. They will be under the direct supervision of Sergeant Hittinger of the war department, who, it is supposed at present, will be sent to Louisville to have general supervision over all government exhibits. Besides the stamps and currency notes, the Treasury Department has consented to send to Louisville a frame containing all the medals which have been voted to individuals by congress since the first one, which was voted to George Washington. These medals have a value in historical and memorial ways. They commemorate various deeds of heroism and statecraft, and should be viewed with intense interest by all who see them.

The Navy Department will send to Louisville a model of the battleship Kentucky, which will show in every detail the lines of that great fighting machine. The model will be twelve feet long, and will occupy the place of honor in the great marble lobby in the Exposition Building. It will be placed where all who enter the building will see it, and will have an opportunity to study its appearance. As the people of Kentucky gave a magnificent silver service to be used on this battleship, it will be interesting to see what manner of vessel it is, as there is hardly a community in the state which did not contribute to the fund which was raised for the purchase of the silver service. Besides the beautiful model, there will be sent from the Navy Department a number of excellent photographs showing the various war vessels of the navy under varied conditions. The exhibits from the Navy Department will surely lend a great deal of enlightenment for those who live far inland and do not frequently come in touch with things of the sea.

The War Department, requisitioning on the Rock Island Arsenal, will send to the Greater Louisville Exposition a big field gun and two rapid-fire guns, besides samples of ammunition used by them. Twenty stands of the rifles now in use in the United States Army, and a stand of flags, will also be sent. In order to show some of the appliances used by the United States Army in the Philippine Islands, the War Department will send to the exposition a cart to which will be attached a life-size cast of a caraboa, which animal is a peculiar looking ox with horns like those of a goat, which grow out of the sides of his head, from three feet to four and a half feet long.

Those who have braved no war danger will be accurately shown what danger lurks over those who go forth

Embezzlement Figures.
The total of embezzlements and kindred thefts for 1906 amounts to $14,739,653, about $5,000,000 more than in 1905. Of this total $10,745,387 was stolen by officials of banks, $1,684,554 by public officials other than postoffice employees, $22,585 by the latter, $379,571 by agents, $248,106 from loan associations, $223,687 by means of forgeries, and the other defalcations, amounting to $1,428,969, were so varied in their nature that they must be classed as miscellaneous.—Chicago Tribune.

Fear In Children.
An examination of 1,500 children recently made in the west shows that thunderstorms are by far the worst terror of childhood. Afterward, in the order set down, come snakes, strangers, darkness, fire, death, disease, wild animals, policemen, water, insects and ghosts. In the fear of rats and mice girls exceed boys in the ratio of seventy-five to sixteen. In boys fear begins to diminish after the fifteenth year, in girls after the eighteenth.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

New English Gas Mantle.
Consul F. W. Mahin of Nottingham describes an improved British gas mantle, said to be as remarkable as the newly invented German mantle, which uses a form of copper cellulose impregnated with certain salts. The new English mantle is dipped in a solution of thorium and cerium, in which is added an ingredient called "laddite," which so adds to its strength and life that it has been uninjured after burning 2,500 hours.—Consular Report.

A news telegram from Louisville, Ky., says:

"Appreciation of an old bird dog's merits is only shown by Magistrate Quincy W. Johnson, of Elizabethtown, this State. He has sent the faithful animal to be an inmate of the Hardin county poorhouse. The order of commitment is as follows:

"William Cleaver, Keeper of the County Farm: Dear Sir—You will please receive and safely keep the body of 'Dewey Johnson.' He is a little old, but he has been raised a gentleman and has always kept the very best of company. His associates have been Governors, generals, majors, judges, doctors, etc.
"You will please credit the old gentleman to magisterial district No. 9, Q. W. Johnson, J. P."

must win upon their merits. The International Dictionary has won a greater distinction upon its merits and is in more general use than any other work of its kind in the English language.

A. H. Sayce, LL.D., D.D., of Oxford University, England, has recently said of it: "It is indeed a marvelous work; it is difficult to conceive of a dictionary more exhaustive and complete. Everything is in it—not only what we might expect to find in such a work, but also what few of us would ever have thought of looking for. A supplement to the new edition has brought it fully up to date. I have been looking through the latter with a feeling of astonishment at its completeness, and the amount of labor that has been put into it."

HOME WAREHOUSE FOR WHITESVILLE.

Meeting of Growers Interested Has Been Called for March 30--Rehandling Center.

A meeting of Equity men will be held at Whitesville at 1:30 o'clock on March 30, for the purpose of discussing the advisability of building a tobacco warehouse at Whitesville for the purpose of storing pooled tobacco in that section of the county. All of the locals in that section of the county will send delegates to the meeting, and all Equity men are requested to be present and offer suggestions.

John Purcell, G. A. Holland and John Neal constitute the committee on arrangements. After investigating the needs and the possibilities for a warehouse at Whitesville, they decided to call a meeting of the growers interested.

A large part of the Equity tobacco of Daviess county is rehandled at Whitesville. Heretofore, however, most of the Whitesville Equity men have been in favor of storing in Louisville and opposed to the home warehouse plan.

Notice.

All persons who pooled tobacco at Beda, Ky., in 1905, are hereby requested to meet J. W. Cooper in Beda, Ky., on Saturday, March 16, 1907, also all persons who pooled with K. V. Williams, at Beaver Dam, Ky., are requested to meet said Williams at Beaver Dam on March 16, 1907, and all are requested to bring their tobacco receipts and on presentation of same will be paid in full.

Origin of Condensed Milk.

It was a woman, Mrs. Albert Cashingor of New Orleans, who many years ago invented condensed milk. Mrs. Cashingor had a sick baby, for whom she must get expert medical advice if it was to live. Such advice could not be got nearer than New York city, which meant a long sea voyage. How to keep the little baby alive through that voyage she did not know. But she had put up many preserves and many jellies in her time, and she began to experiment on milk and put up a lot of jars of her original condensed milk, which fed her child through the voyage. The fact interested several people in New York, and finally Mrs. Cashingor gave her process away to a pack of sharp fellows, who made fortunes out of condensed milk and never gave her a cent.

An Off Year.

There are people in England, as elsewhere, who do not believe that the civilian is greatly benefited mentally, physically or morally by a few weeks' service in the militia. But surely as long as such stories as the one below can be told of any man his military training is not an unmixed evil.

An officer in charge of the bath parade at a garrison near the sea, where the amateur soldiers were mainly from the inland and mining counties of England, reports that the first day as he was watching the men getting ready for their dip he noticed one who looked very dark. A comrade noticed him also and said, "Jack, you're pretty dirty!" "Yes," said Jack simply. "I was not out for last year's training."

THE LOWEST RATES

Offered For Greater Louisville Exposition Period.

BIG SHOW WILL OPEN MARCH 13

Creator's Band With Low Rates and National League Baseball Teams Will Make Louisville Kentucky's Mecca For Two Weeks, Beginning March 18 and Ending March 30.

Many persons are now counting the days which must elapse before the opening of the Greater Louisville Exposition, March 18. The manufacturers and other business men of Louisville have been steadily engaged on the big enterprise since November 21, last, and they now see the fruition of their hopes in the exhibits which are being daily installed in the big Exposition Building.

The work of construction, which on paper made a most excellent impression, is in its final completion, it is said, far more beautiful than anything the designers had expected. The construction of the exhibit booths cost the has, under the stress of many difficulties, made an exposition which will astonish all visitors when they enter its doors.

Visitors to the exposition will be greeted by strains of sweetest music, produced by the famous band of the great Creator, who will give two performances daily throughout the fortnight of the exposition, March 18 to 30.

This same Creator is a man of tremendous personality, rich in everything which goes to make up a really great musician. A Neapolitan by birth, but an American by naturalization, he has played before the crowned heads of Europe as well as before those uncrowned kings—the musical critics of the New York press. No where has he failed to receive the highest praise, and he has repeatedly declared that the musical taste of the people of Kentucky is, as an average, the most accurate in recognizing true musical worth that he has ever seen. That the great master has not been overestimated in Louisville and in the rest of the United States is attested by the following paragraph from the London Daily Tribune:

"The band certainly deserves the high praise it has received in America. The musical qualities of the tone and style are great, and although Signor Creator walks about the platform and conducts by means of gestures which might be called sensational, there is no 'trickery' about his interpretation of the music. The instruments have that clear, rather shrill tone which the Italians prefer. The cornet, the principal clarinet, the trombone, for instance, are all remarkable as virtuosi. The ensemble is as fine as possible, and the clean phrasing, especially in forte passages, goes beyond anything we have heard from other bands. From every point of view this is a finer band than that of Sousa, and there is much in its work which should attract musicians as well as the uncritical."

When it is considered that the work of this great music master may be observed without extra charge, and the admission price is only twenty-five cents, the fact will be readily recognized that Louisville is putting forth every effort possible to give immense value for the money which will be received at the exposition gate.

For those who prefer music and laughter in the evening and outdoor entertainments during the morning and afternoon, there is the excellent choice of visiting Louisville's outdoor attractions in the morning and seeing her excellent baseball team in action in the afternoon. From March 25 to 29, inclusive, there will be games of baseball between the Louisville team and some of the strongest teams in the National and American leagues.

Low railroad rates, Greater Louisville Exposition, Creator, baseball—what more could be needed to induce one to take a pleasant little trip to the metropolis of the state, there to receive the welcome of her people under the most gratifying conditions.

GIUSEPPE, CREATORE, The Greatest Living Bandmaster.

Exposition Company a great sum of money, but the result is said to more than justify the expenditure.

The rates to Louisville, which go into effect on Monday, March 18, on all railroads, will be one fare for the round trip. With Monday, March 18, as the first selling date, the rates obtain on Thursday, 21; Saturday, 23; Monday, 25; Thursday, 28, and Saturday, 30, all good returning April 1. These rates have not been beaten by any rate ever announced for any exposition in the history of the country and it is said that the interest offered by the Greater Louisville Exposition justifies the rate to the last degree.

Not alone do the railroads offer these excellent inducements, but all steamboat lines making Louisville have offered similar inducements. The Louisville & Evansville Packet Company and the Lee Line offer a rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip, including meals and berth, while the Louisville & Cincinnati Packet Company offer one fare for the round trip, exclusive of meals and berth.

Thus all Kentuckians may travel cheaply and comfortably to Louisville during the exposition period, with sufficient stopover privilege to allow them to enjoy the exposition in every detail and transact such business as they may have in Kentucky's metropolis before expiration of their tickets.

Such zeal is being shown by the exhibitors in the matter of getting installed before the opening of March 18 that the Board of Directors of the Greater Louisville Exposition have announced that they are now in position to accurately gauge the appearance of the great hall when President Roosevelt touches the button and the wheels of the exposition are finally set in motion. Decorated with rainbow tints, natural and artificial foliage and flowers, the exposition hall is, in truth, a dream of beauty. Even teeming with busy activities and resounding with the blows of many hammers and the grating of saws as it is at present, it is said by all who know that the exposition far surpasses any previous efforts made by Louisville to take her important place among the great cities of the nation.

Kentucky and all Kentuckians may well be proud of Louisville, for she

The business men of Louisville stand with outstretched hands, awaiting the visitor from Kentucky and the visitor from elsewhere, and the Exposition Building will be the meeting place for many an old friend to meet other old friends and for kindred spirits to come together for the first time. In fact, there is no limit to the joy and profit which will be derived by a few days' visit to Louisville during the period of the Greater Louisville Exposition, March 18 to 30.

"CLARIONETTES"

Short Notes Marking Progress and Interest of the Exposition.

Louisville, it is said, is greatly tickled over the showing made in the art exhibit of the Greater Louisville Exposition. There are many artists of merit in Louisville, both amateur and professional, yet both classes are more or less inclined to hide their light under a bushel, and it is only by great persuasion, it is said, that many of them are made willing to exhibit their works in the exposition. The Veterans' Room in the Exposition Building is an ideal place for an art exhibit.

Sig. Giuseppe Creatore has announced that in the making of his programmes for the Greater Louisville Exposition he has arranged for more encores than at any city during the past season. Sig. Creatore knows that his great affection for Kentucky and Kentuckians is warmly reciprocated.

Many "oldest inhabitants" have recalled former expositions given in Louisville, and the Greater Louisville Exposition does not suffer any by comparison with them.
